If you fly into Germany

The closest airport is the International Airport in Frankfurt. From there the easiest way to come to Würzburg is by train, which leaves about every hour and takes about 1 hour and 20 minutes to bring you here. (Attention: If you fly to the airport in Frankfurt Hahn, the connection is much more complicated, since you have to take a bus first and then switch to a train. It will take you about two and a half hours.) If you fly into Berlin, you will have to be on the train for about 5 hours to come to Würzburg, from Munich and from Stuttgart it will take between 2 or 3 hours, from Nürnberg, it will take you about one hour. For further instructions how to get to the Cairo from the Würzburg train station, see below.

If you travel by train:

To central station Würzburg.
Then take the tram nr. 5 (to Rottenbauer) or nr. 3 (to Heuchelhof).
Please leave the tram at the station Löwenbrücke and then follow the signs to the Cairo/Youth Hostel.
